United Nations Conference Will End Next Tuesday

World Charter
To Be Signed
By 50 Monday

Russia Accepts Compromises Plan Defining Assembly Powers

DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
SAN FRANCISCO, June 20 (AP)—Russian acceptance of an Australian compromise on what a fifty-nation general assembly can talk about enabled the United Nations conference tonight finally and formally to set next Tuesday for completion of a world charter to maintain peace.

Secretary of State Stettinius announced after a steering committee meeting that a speech by President Truman late Tuesday afternoon will end this historic gathering, two months and a day after it began its deliberations.

50 Will Sign Charter

The charter of a new world organization dedicated to peace probably will be signed by all the delegates of fifty United Nations Monday afternoon and night. It will bring into being, when enough governments ratify it, an international league empowered to settle disputes peacefully or to use armed might to prevent war or aggression.

It will set up a new international court of justice, and a council for co-operation in removing social and economic stresses which have foisted war in the past.

Commission Completes Work

To a compact security council of eleven members—all the five big world powers and six others—will be entrusted the primary responsibility for maintaining peace. A conference commission considering the council's structure and duties completed its task today.

All that remained was to put into charter language sections dealing with a general assembly to serve as the "town meeting of the world."

Russia cleared the way for that and a successful conclusion of the conference by accepting an Australian suggestion that the assembly be allowed to debate anything within the sphere of the world charter.

Truman To Prolong
Vacation in West

OLYMPIA, Wash., June 20 (AP)—President Truman took steps tonight to prolong his Pacific northwest vacation as an announcement came from San Francisco that the United Nations conference would adjourn Tuesday.

Mr. Truman had hoped to make his address to the closing session there Saturday.

Plans Fishing Trip

Meanwhile, he took time out from his vacation, which may include a fishing trip tomorrow, to present the congressional medal of honor to a Washington state hero, and scheduled a 10 a.m. (Pacific war time) (PEW) press conference for tomorrow.

Borrowed Sports Shirt

His press secretary, Charles G. Ross, also disclosed that Gov. Wallgren, the president's host here, will accompany him when he moves to San Francisco.

Production Board

The president got up at 5:30 a.m. at the executive mansion and routed Governor Wallgren out of bed. He borrowed a sports shirt from the governor, put on his own tweed and leather sports jacket, and went for a stroll with the governor around the mansion and capital grounds before breakfast.

In obvious good health and good humor, the president smilingly told White House reporters who accompanied him:

"It was the best walk I have had since entering the White House."

Children Find
Copperhead Snake

HAGERSTOWN, Md., June 20 (AP)—Noticing a snake curled up on the sidewalk on Frederick street, some children summoned Harry Yingling from the nearby Yingling Auto Works.

Yingling killed the three-foot snake with a club, then readily identified it as a copperhead, one of the most poisonous species. In recent years copperheads rarely have been found outside of mountain areas.

Crops Doing Well

BALTIMORE, June 20 (AP)—The United States Department of Commerce Crop Weather Bureau reported today that all Maryland crops had made rapid growth in the last week because of the heat, and barley was being threshed in many sections.

Reports of Japanese Evacuation
Of Hainan Doubled, Simpson Says

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press News Analyst

Reporting earlier advices from China that Japanese forces were evacuating Hainan Island, a pivotal strategic position at the mouth of the Gulf of Tonkin, appear at least premature if not wholly unfounded. Yet there are evidences of growing enemy uneasiness in that area.

Chungking reports of Nipponese offensive activities on Hollons peninsula in Southern Kwangtung indicate Japanese fear that Hainan might be isolated.

LA GUARDIA GREETES VICTORIOUS "IKE"

GEN. DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER, general of the Army, is greeted in New York by fiery Fiorello La Guardia, mayor of the city, shortly before the parade for "Ike," where the likable general acknowledged the cheers of thousands of New Yorkers in one of their most elaborate victory parades.

Big Fires Burn
Out of Control
In Jap Cities

GUAM, June 20 (AP)—Great fires burned out of control for hours, radio Tokyo admitted today, in two of the three secondary industrial cities of Japan given their first fire treatment by Yank B-29s.

Shizuoka and Toyohashi, on Honshu, apparently were hardest hit in the three-way mission which cost two of the Superforts but Fukuoka, on Kyushu, also burned for two hours or more.

The Twentieth air force command in Washington reported results ranged from unbroken to excellent and disclosed two of the planes were missing. Air opposition was described as weak and anti-aircraft fire medium and inaccurate.

Returning pilots, reporting fires visible seventy-five miles from the target areas, said they would not have to return to Shizuoka. It was in that munitions center eighty-four miles southwest of the Japanese capital that radio Tokyo said fires were only "generally" under control five hours after the raiders struck.

Tokyo reported the conflagration in Toyohashi was not controlled until about five hours after the city was hit.

The general flashed his famed grin, touched the iron bed and said:

Room Little Changed

"This is a room I remember with great happiness. We had a great gang here. It was my last year and what a year it was. The room is exactly the same as it was then except we had wooden chairs and tables."

A few minutes later Eisenhower was on the academy's cavalry plain, acknowledging the cheers of several thousand people who had gathered to watch him review the enlisted personnel.

He told the instruction staff:

"You are doing a similar job to the one I did in the first World War. I can imagine few more important jobs. I know you are doing a good job. If some one had taken the trouble twenty-five years ago to tell me how important it was I know I would have felt better."

No company was granted a quota of fewer than 8,000 cars in the coming six months, on the theory that production should be started at "reasonable rate" from the profit-making standpoint. Any new companies entering the passenger car field also will receive the 8,000 quota.

Crops Doing Well

BALTIMORE, June 20 (AP)—The National Crop Weather Bureau reported today that all Maryland crops had made rapid growth in the last week because of the heat, and barley was being threshed in many sections.

Death Penalty Not
Asked for Poles

By EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW, June 20 (AP)—The Soviet prosecutor asked for prison terms but not the death penalty today in the "fifth column" trial of sixteen Polish underground leaders, and asserted the Polish government in London bore "the main guilt" for trying to create a Poland in opposition to the Soviet Union.

Summing up Russia's case, Maj. Gen. Nikolai Afanasev declared "despite all their crimes, I think the punishment should be limited to imprisonment, especially in these days of Soviet victory when together with our Allies we gained our great triumph."

For that reason if no other a desperate enemy stand on Hainan would seem indicated. Chinese military spokesmen now report that an enemy detachment was withdrawn from the island, pre-

37th Division Captures Ilagan In Philippines

Important River Junction and Airstrip Held by Americans

By SPENCER DAVIS
MANILA, Thursday, June 21 (AP)—Meeting little or no opposition from an estimated 30,000 Japanese fleeing northward in the Cagayan valley of the Philippines, troops of the American Thirty-seventh division captured Ilagan, an important river junction, and its air strip Tuesday, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported today.

Seize Air Strip

Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler's Buckeyes seized the Ilagan air strip, a small secondary field overgrown with brush and rank grass, as they crossed the 440-foot wide Cagayan river aboard assault boats and pressed forward seven miles for a total gain of ten miles during the day. They killed thirty-nine Japanese and captured 103, mostly Formosans, as the advance continued unimpeded.

Three other Yank divisions mopped up in the lower Cagayan valley where Japanese troops, retreating westward, have taken cover in the Caraballo mountains.

The American Sixth division, driving on the Japanese base at Kangan, beat off night counter-attacks Monday and Tuesday on a mountain road, killing sixteen of the Nipponites.

220 Japs Killed

More than 220 Japanese were killed and sixty captured on the Sierra Madre range east of Manila as the Thirty-eighth infantry division and First (dismounted) cavalry division, together with Philippine army units, penetrated deeper into the upper Marikina water divide.

Fifth air force fighter bombers, including a crack unit of the Mexican expeditionary force, flew 300 sorties Monday in support of Luzon ground operations while to the south marine dive bombers based on Mindanao Island hit Baguio town, named after the summer capital on Luzon.

In the Davao gulf areas the Yanks captured the ravaged town of Calinan, road junction, and advanced 1,200 yards toward Baguio.

Ickes, Maverick Back New Plan For Retirement

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—Harold L. Ickes and Maury Maverick came out today for a federal retirement system for Congress, cabinet officers and government bureau heads.

"I wouldn't be bothered if I were about newspaper criticism," Secretary of Interior Ickes told a House Civil Service subcommittee.

Added Maverick, head of the Smaller War Plants Corporation:

"I say to you that it is false honesty, false dignity not to vote yourself a decent salary and to vote yourself reasonable retirement benefits."

The two officials appeared as witnesses for a bill which would permit elective and appointive officers to buy their way into the Civil Service Retirement System by contributing five per cent of their annual salary retroactively to the time they entered government service.

The bill, introduced by Rep. Mary T. Norton (D-N.J.) is similar to the so-called "Pensions for Congress" measure which the House passed three years ago, then hurriedly repealed when it ran into a storm of ridicule.

Both Ickes and Maverick insisted it would improve the quality of Congress if members could arrange their old age security by participating in the retirement plan.

During the last war Eisenhower was stationed at West Point and did not get into the fight. So today he consoled the instructors and men to never forget the importance of their work.

Earlier, after receiving a prolonged cheer from the cadets when he appeared at the mess hall, Eisenhower said:

"The major thought that I bring you today is this: Cultivate mutual understanding with any one you think you have to get along with. To my mind that is the whole civilized world."

If we stick together we have to fight. If we stick together intelligently we will never have to fight."

Senate Passes
Trade Measure

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—Simplifying down a series of restrictive amendments, the Senate today passed $4 to 21 and sent to the White House legislation extending the reciprocal trade agreements law three more years with added power for the president to cut tariff rates.

Already authorized under the old law to cut import duties in half, the president will be empowered under the new legislation to reduce them another fifty per cent below the rates prevailing on Jan. 1, 1945.

Where the full power is used, duties thus could be trimmed to one-fourth of the Smoot-Hawley schedules of 1930.

Railroad President Doesn't Want
Government Seized Line Returned

CHICAGO, June 20 (AP)—George P. McNear, Jr., declared today he didn't want his government-settled Toledo and Western Railroad returned to him "under conditions as I understand them to exist."

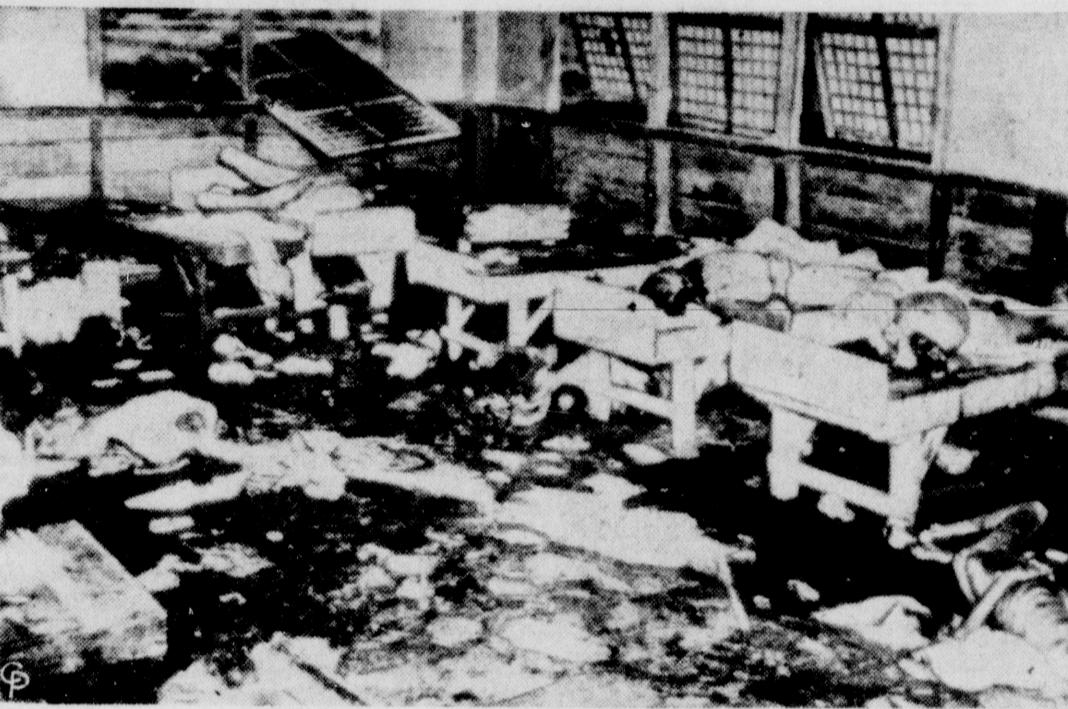

"Any Tom, Dick and Harry could run the road under the present rules," the fiery railroad president asserted after a court conference preliminary to dissolving control which the federal government has held over the line since March, 1942.

Summing up Russia's case, Maj. Gen. Nikolai Afanasev declared "despite all their crimes, I think the punishment should be limited to imprisonment, especially in these days of Soviet victory when together with our Allies we gained our great triumph."

Latest Hitler Story:

German Guard Says He Saw Adolf
And Eva Braun Burn near Shelter

By DANIEL DE LUCA

MONTGOMERY'S HEADQUARTERS, Germany, June 20 (AP)—A guard in Adolf Hitler's Berlin Reichschancellery claimed today he saw the bodies of the German führer and his supposed bride, Eva Braun, burning at the exit to Hitler's underground shelter May 1.

Four empty gasoline cans were beside the couple, he asserted.

The guard, 32-year-old Hermann Karau, said he recognized Hitler by his mustache and Eva Braun by her black suede, cork-soled shoes. He said he believed they had been previously poisoned.

"With another guard I returned to the spot where the bodies lay. The lower halves of both were burned away, but I again recognized Braun by her black suede shoes with high, cork soles which had not yet caught fire."

Sheriff Punches
Reporter in Row
Over News Story

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 20 (AP)—Bayard F. Ennis, reporter for the Charleston Gazette, said he was attacked in a courthouse office today by Sheriff E. Earl Brawley, who accused him of writing an incorrect story.

Brawley later told Gazette reporters that he had struck Ennis because the article relating to an appointment was untrue.

How It Started

Ennis said he was sitting in a reclining position in the office of County Court President Mont Caven when he was attacked by the sheriff. Brawley entered and asked "are you the guy that wrote that story?"

Ennis said he answered in the affirmative, assuming that Brawley referred to a story reporting that courthouse sources said Edgar G. Bourne, suspended city detective lieutenant, "may become" a deputy sheriff under appointment by Brawley.

"What do you mean writing a lie like that," Ennis said the sheriff declared, with Brawley calling from everybody's side of town and it's giving me a lot of trouble."

Ennis said he started to explain when Brawley interrupted, grabbed him and threatened to "kill" him. Ennis suffered a cut lip and bruises about the neck and body in the attack.

The reporter declared that Caven tried to interfere clutching at Brawley and saying "you can't do that." After Brawley and Caven went out into a hall, Ennis said he left by another door.

Asked about the attack, Brawley said his office force had "jumped" on him when he returned to the city today because of the story, and said he had had innumerable telephone calls.

Brawley stated that he was just going to call Ennis when he saw the newsman in Caven's office.

Brawley told reporters that "I'd have broken his jaw if they hadn't pulled me off."

Police Magistrates' Salary Boosts Are Held To Be Illegal

BALTIMORE, June 20.—(P)—The bill by the Maryland legislature authorizing salary raises for police magistrates has been declared unconstitutional by City Solicitor Simon E. Sobeloff.

The city solicitor said that the statute providing for the increases is in conflict with the provision of the state constitution which says:

"Nor shall the salary or compensation of any public official be increased or diminished during his term in office."

The legislation went into effect June 1, but the magistrates' terms started the first Monday in May. As a result it is the opinion of Sobeloff that the raises are not legal.

The present yearly salary of the magistrates is $3,500 a year. The legislation which Sobeloff claims is illegal would have raised their annual income to $4,000.

LISTEN WORLD

My Dear—
This is going to be a strange sort of letter. It's not easy to write something out of the depth of your own life. Or into the deep wound of a stranger. Many are bound to sneer at it. They'll say it's "sob stuff"—bad taste.

Each morning there are letters on my desk which I dread to open. Letters from young brides whose husbands have been sent suddenly overseas. Letters from frantic mothers whose lives are shattered because their boys are gone.

So I have come to feel that there is only one thing I can give and that is a part of myself. My own agony. The night when I, too, faced what they are facing now. And what came out of it.

My boy lay dying in a nearby room. My life lay dying with him. The doctors had asked that I should not molest, with my terrible grief, the coma which had blinded his last pain. A friend sat with me throughout the long, black hours. But there was no words between us. God—if there was a God—seemed far away. I could not pray. I had no wish with which to face the years...no plan that might give me taller strength to live and serve when he was gone.

Then, with the dawn, it came. I knew, then, what I wanted...the only wish that could help me to go on. And so I prayed—

God give me strength to love!
Give me strength to love all other boys as I have loved my own.
I do not ask for healing of this pain—
I only ask that I may live and love again.
Let me not flinch from love
Or turn my heart against another mother's boy.
Because he isn't mine—
Make my heart great enough to Love all love—
And comfort every grief and share my pain.
As I would share the bread and wine
Of Sacrament.
God, let me live and love.

That was the prayer I prayed the morning that my dear son went away. And that prayer has sustained me through the years.

Kelly Workers Should Stick to Their Jobs

SHERMAN H. DALRYMPLE, of Akron, O., general president of the International Union of United Rubber Workers of America, has directed strikers to return to their jobs at the local Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant, and they are responding to the direction.

It is hoped not only that production will be restored speedily to normal at the plant but that the workers and let all grievances be settled in accordance with the provisions in their contract and under national laws for settlement thereof.

This is, of course, not to say that some grievances which have prompted work stoppage are not just because they well may be. But there appears to be no good reason why they should not be ironed out in orderly manner without resort to work suspension. Especially is that the case when work stoppages are not authorized, as Dalrymple declared the latest week-long vacation was.

There are urgent reasons why production should not be interrupted at this plant, the chief, of course, being the part it plays in the war economy. Another is that the continual stoppage are hurting immeasurably the cause of the war effort. They have indicated irresponsibility on the part of local labor union leaders and a breakdown of union purposes and objectives. This has been expressed to representatives of this newspaper with keen regrets therefore by union workers of the plant who want their work to go on. The fact that there have been no fewer than twelve of these work stoppages at this important plant since the first of the year is as astounding as it is deplorable.

As this newspaper has pointed out, orderly means have been provided for the solution of all the labor-management difficulties resulting in these sporadic unauthorized strikes, means whereby labor and management can cooperate in a voluntary basis without resort to work stoppage. These should be employed and the Kelly workers should stick to their work, and this for the reason also stated, that the people generally, and especially our fighting men, are pretty well fed up on them. What they want, what this newspaper implores, is industrial peace and it is not to be construed as labor-baiting to urge such an end under the rights and privileges that have been provided.

Succession Law Should Be Enacted at Once

RESULTING from President Truman's message recommending reversion of the presidential succession law, Congress has for consideration a measure introduced, shortly after the message was received, by Senator Styles Bridges, of New Hampshire, following substantially the President's suggestions.

That indicates early action on the measure, which should be taken by the Congress in view of the departure of the executive on a series of long serial trips and likely to be taken in view of the comments of general approval coming from members of both chambers, both Republicans and Democrats.

The president deserves commendation for making this recommendation at this time. It is both logical and timely; and it is not a trivial matter, but one that concerns the orderly functioning of the government in the event of mishap to any executive or other disgruntled official.

One exception registered has been made by Senator Taft, of Ohio, who believes that the present law should be retained with provision for a special election if a cabinet officer would happen to become president, who is Senator Howard D. Smith of North Carolina. That the plan of the Senate for temporary of the Senate could be now in line instead of the House speaker. Senator Tydings is made the point that further study be given the subject.

The president's recommendations not inhibit consideration of any of these variances, however. But his recommendation that the House speaker come first in succession bears weight. He held that the speaker should be filled by an elective officer, noting that there is no officer in our system of government besides the president and vice-president who is elected by all the people.

Or take the voice of a Jenny Lind, or a John Charles Thomas, or a Chaliapin. What power for great good! It was stated of Ira D. Sankey, who sang for the great religious meetings of Dwight L. Moody, that he sang more people into religious life than Moody did by his marvelous speaking. Both, however, were a great team of voices.

But take our everyday life. How powerful is the human voice as a thing of persuasion! The salesman counts upon it as his greatest asset. The political speaker as his greatest stock in trade. The great follower of the late William Jennings Bryan was largely because of his oratory. And we all know what an asset the voice of the late Franklin Roosevelt was in elevating him and keeping him elevated to the very last. Never have I listened, however, to more perfect voice expression and sincere delivery than that of the late Woodrow Wilson.

It was the voice of Napoleon that often turned the tide of battle for him, as he briefly sent his commands to his soldiers. He made them feel that it was the voice of France!

There are few assets so powerful or so valuable as the well-modulated cultivated voice. We are attracted to the most sincere voices of the friendly voice. And how potent it is on the part of the minister, the physician, or the nurse. How I would like to have heard the voice of the Great Teacher, as he spoke to the multitude and gave forth that greatest of all discourses.

The Sermon on the Mount! Great salaries are paid by the radio merely for beautiful voices. Their effect upon a hearer cannot be estimated. Do not neglect that voice of yours. It is one of your greatest natural assets. Make it do service for you. Keep it clear, always well modulated, and make it express the feeling that comes from your heart.

The reason underlying the present succession law is that of controlling the political power of an administration in order to avoid sudden disruption of policy. Off-the personal privilege given the executive thus to name his own successors against some definite expression of the popular will. There are possibilities that with cabinet member succession there could be such a change. The president noted that, particularly pointing out that "senators are not so closely tied in by the elective process to the people as are the members of the House of Representatives. Usually it is in agreement with the chief executive." But the chance of a change is more remote, he noted, with regard to the speaker of the House, as, while only one-third of the Senate is elected with the president and the vice-president, a completely new House is elected every two years, and it more usually is in accord with the party in control.

The proposed changes are quite in accord with the representative spirit of our government and, in view of the hazards modern conditions have added, they should be speedily adopted.

Hospital Charges Should Be Sifted

IN DECIDING to call War department officials as witnesses, a House committee shows that it is determined to leave no stone unturned in its efforts to get to the bottom of the charges that there has been serious abuse of patients in veterans' hospitals. This is clearly the proper attitude to take. No American can possibly be content until he is satisfied either that the current accusations are unfounded or, if true, that remedial measures will be adopted without delay.

Unfortunately, all the indications are that in many instances men who have been wounded in this war are not only being deprived of the hospital service to which they are entitled but are actually being discriminated. There seems to have been some glaring inefficiency as well as hardened coldbloodedness.

The people of this country will not tolerate either.

The reason for calling in the War department is that the army often assigns soldiers to serve as hospital assistants and some of these men have been declared by hospital authorities to be incompetent and ill-suited for their jobs. If that is indeed fact, the army should not be permitted to escape at least part of the blame for conditions which have been uncovered.

There are urgent reasons why production should not be interrupted at this plant, the chief, of course, being the part it plays in the war economy. Another is that the continual stoppage are hurting immeasurably the cause of the war effort. They have indicated irresponsibility on the part of local labor union leaders and a breakdown of union purposes and objectives. ## Girl, 18, Advised To Steer Clear Of Married Man

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I'm 18 years old and deeply in love with a married man who has a wife and child. I have loved him for two years, and he says he loves me too. He says he's soon going to get a divorce as he does not care for his wife and wants me to marry him. My mother doesn't know about this, and to get out once a week to see him, I tell her I'm going to a movie.

At school all the girls seem to be turning against me. They tell lies about me, and say I'm no good. Sometimes I wish I were dead, the way I'm treated. Even my mother calls me names and tells me I'm no good. We argue every day. I'd like to run away from home. I wish you would write me; I know it would make me feel better.

M.L.B.

Brace up, my dear, and don't spoil your life at 18 by running around with another woman's husband, especially when there's a child to consider. If the man amounted to anything, he wouldn't encourage you to sneak out and tell lies to your mother about going to the movies. As for telling you he doesn't love his wife and is going to get a divorce, I wonder sometimes why such men don't have a stencil cut and hand out those sentiments to every easily-imposed-upon girl they meet.

Drop the married man. Take an interest in something worth while, and tell your mother you intend to turn over a new leaf, and I'm sure things will go better with you. Meanwhile, send me your correct name and address.

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 21 years old, a widow and have a two year old child. I'm engaged to a sailor whom I have known since my childhood days. I went with him two months before becoming engaged, but did it only to please my family who like the boy very much. And when I accepted the ring I didn't realize I was not in love with him. He is now in the South Pacific and I'd like to know whether I should write and tell him how I feel or wait until he comes home.

H.H.

Look at some of those war pictures showing men in the Pacific combat zones, and consider well before writing any sort of bad news to them. Don't write love-letters if you no longer love, but friendly letters, so that the serviceman may realize gradually how you feel toward him.

Perhaps my judgment may be somewhat warped at this writing by a dreadful letter which came in the morning's mail, telling of a soldier who with a letter breaking his engagement in his pocket, deliberately exposed himself to a hideous death, meet some girl who may help him. If a man is in Australia, New Zealand or some other war theater, letter may be advisable. But if he where he can have relaxation and is serving in the green hell of the Pacific jungles, for mercy's sake spare him the worst.

Pacific Veteran Is Home, Honorably Discharged

A recorded interview with T. Sgt. Charles Sirbaugh, Paw Paw, W. Va., and Staff Sgt. Noah Payne, Esty Green, Brier county, W. Va., was presented at 10:45 o'clock yesterday on the Preview and Review program over WTBO with Miss Roma Carpenter as commentator.

The recording was "made under combat conditions by means of a magnetic wire recorder" according to the Headquarters of the United States Army forces of the Pacific Ocean Area. Both men were members of the Thirty-second Regiment of the Seventh Division on Okinawa, at the time of the recording, during the invasion of that island.

T. Sgt. Sirbaugh, son of Mrs. Myrtle Alderton, of Paw Paw, returned home Friday, having received an honorable discharge with 129 points. He was employed at the Celanese Corporation of America here prior to his entering the service November 18, 1943. After training at Fort Slocum, N. Y., he was sent to Schofield barracks, Hawaii in March of 1944, where he was stationed with the infantry.

Later he returned to the states and joined the Seventh division here, when word was received of the attack on Pearl Harbor. After being stationed at Fort Ord, Calif., for about one year, he was sent overseas in April of 1944 and took part in the attack on Attu.

Sgt. Sirbaugh has been awarded the Purple Heart medal with a cluster, for wounds received on Leyte and Okinawa; two bronze ing paper, wrapping paper and personal donations.

Plans for the annual August outing will be formulated at the meeting to be held July 17 at the home of Miss May.

KINGSTREE, S. C.—(AP)—Henry Britton Watson, with the Seventh army, crossing the German Alps, spied a deer and fired a quick shot. ## Miss Boslet Named Estate Executrix

Upon her petition, Miss Angela M. Boslet, California, was named executrix of the estate of her uncle, John Howe, who died May 5, by the judges of the orphans' court Tuesday.

The court revoked letters of administration granted to J. Rex Miller, June 12, when the will was probated. Miss Boslet was named co-executor in the will.

Commander John R. Boslet, navy chaplain, also named in the will as co-executor, renounced his right to serve and asked that his sister, Miss Boslet, be granted the letters of administration upon the request of Mrs. William Logan, sister of Howe. Representing Mrs. Logan, William M. Somerville cited that when Miller was named it was assumed that the executors named in Howe's will might come in later and take charge.

William C. Walsh was attorney for Miss Boslet.

Irvin Morton, 360 Camden avenue, yesterday filed $10,000 bond as co-administrator of the estate of Benjamin Waingold. The court last week upheld his petition, alleging that a codicil to Waingold's will, removing Morton as administrator, was obtained through fraud.

Miss Boslet said that she was particularly qualified to serve as the result of her experience in auditing and working in a law office.

Miller had been granted letters of administration upon the request of vantages of electric service, and for a series of newspaper advertisements developed for the Blue Ridge Lines. The latter described the handicaps overcome by bus transportation companies in rendering good public service in wartime.

The material receiving the awards was prepared by the company's advertising department under the direction of C. D. Lyon, Hagerstown.

Somerset Child Injured

Sandra Sager, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sager, Somerset, Pa., was admitted to Memorial hospital late Tuesday for observation and treatment of severe lacerations of the face suffered, attaches were told, when she was bitten by a dog. Attaches said the child's condition was "good."

Infantry Show Snubs Celanese Bond Buying; Miners Sales Increase

Celanese war bond sales at the infantry booth Saturday through yesterday morning at the plant amounted to $15,200, according to the plant's bond committee, Edward T. Beall, chairman.

The committee approved a request of employees of the spinning department for the purchase of extra bonds through payroll deductions, in addition to their regular savings.

David Watkins, representative of District 16 of the United Mine Workers Union of America, reported that ninety-seven percent of the membership of some locals is buying bonds and many of the purchases have increased for the Seventh War Loan Drive.

Watkins said that some miners buy through their companies and some make individual purchases so that it is difficult to obtain a complete picture of UMWU bond purchases.

Ration Board Office Will Close Early Today

Officials of the local War Price and Rationing Board said yesterday that the board office, 111 Union street, will close at noon today to enable price panel clerks to complete processing an estimated 10,000 applications for canning sugar.

It was stated that the clerks need extra time to complete the job of processing the applications before the summer canning season is too far advanced.

Officials also announced yesterday that new gasoline stamps, good for six gallons each, will become valid tomorrow. The coupons will be good until September 22. The A-15 gas coupons, which expire today, were good for only four gallons of gasoline each.

Small Percentage Of Kelly Workers Go Back to Jobs

Company Estimates Return at About Twenty-five Per Cent

Officials of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company said last night that a "little better than twenty-five per cent" of the more than 2,000 workers employed at the plant have returned to their jobs in compliance with directions of Sherman H. Dalrymple, Akron, Ohio, general president of the international union of the United Rubber Workers of America.

Dalrymple on Tuesday directed the employees to return to their posts on their respective shifts, and a company spokesman reported last night that "each shift has been getting better" since partial production was resumed at 11 o'clock Tuesday night.

"We have not shown much improvement," he said last night, but "we expect gradual improvement." An official of Local 26, United Rubber Workers of America, said the return to work at the plant yesterday was "nothing to brag on" but he added that he hopes "the situation will improve" today.

Skeleton Crews Working

According to Ralph C. Beard, president of Local 26, partial production was maintained yesterday by skeleton crews. He estimated that proportionately more workers returned to their jobs on the shell lines than in the rubber factory.

Yesterday, Beard and Edmund S. Burke, president of the Kelly plant, issued a joint statement urging employees to return to work.

"Sherman H. Dalrymple, president of the international union, United Rubber Workers of America," their statement said, "has directed all employees of the Kelly plant to end the unauthorized strike and return to work on their respective shifts immediately."

"The company is ready to resume production in all departments and to accept the return of all employees. All employees are urged to report for work on their respective shifts not later than Thursday, June 21."

Akron Workers Striking

While the seven-day unauthorized strike of Kelly plant workers was ending, 16,700 striking Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company employees at Akron, Ohio, continued their five-day work stoppage.

Dalrymple termed the strike unauthorized by C. V. Wheeler, head of the URWA local in Akron, labeled it "legal," according to an Associated Press dispatch.

Workers at the Goodyear rubber plants in Akron filed thirty days notice of the strike under the Smith-Connally act, according to word received here, and members of the union favored strike action by a three to one margin in an election conducted by the National Labor Relations Board on May 28.

Wheeler told the regional War Labor Board yesterday he "would not order the 16,700 striking employees back to work under present working conditions." He made his statement during questioning by Frederick Bullen, regional WLB chairman, at a "show cause" hearing in Cleveland, Ohio. After the hearing the regional board certified the case to the national WLB.

Some Thirty Issues

Wheeler also said the strike was not in violation of the union contract with the company, and that union officials had "made no agreement" with a federal conciliator to "continue negotiations in the dispute."

The strike in Akron followed two weeks of company-union negotiations on some thirty issues involving wages, hours and overtime.

Rites Are Planned For I. G. McElfish

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in Emmanuel Methodist church, Humboldt street, for Irvin Gilbert McElfish, 71, local grocer, who died yesterday morning at 2:35 o'clock at his home, 10 Mary street, after a lingering illness.

The Rev. Richard L. Wittig, pastor of the church, will officiate and be assisted by the Rev. Charles V. Elliott, pastor of Assembly of God church, Elder street, and the Rev. J. Edgar Waiter, pastor of Bethel and Calvary Evangelical churches. Interment will be in Hillcrest cemetery.

Receipts Are Increased $40,000; Game Kills Below Peak Years

BALTIMORE, June 20 (AP)—Shell shortages and transportation difficulties did not stop Maryland hunters last season and about 100,000 more pounds of game went to Free State tables in 1944 than in 1943, the State Game and Inland Fish Commission reported today.

With sales of hunting licenses reaching $3,000—an all time high—bringing an approximate $40,000 increase in receipts over the previous year, "the meat shortage" seemed to be the determining factor, game officials said, "and there was plenty of game."

The 1944 Maryland game kill report just completed disclosed, however, that both the number of game killed and the number of licensed hunters reporting kills were far below those of 1941 and 1942, peak years.

About forty-two per cent of 1944's licensed hunters reported kills which totaled 429,920 pieces, compared to 367,900 for 1943, and 619,770 pounds, against 517,836 pounds for 1943. Approximately the same percentage of hunters reported in 1943 as last year.

482 Deer Killed

Based on game birds and game animals dressed ready for the table, the report of species killed showed increases in ruffed grouse from 1,988 in 1943 to 2,467 in 1944; rabbits, from 125,064 to 133,289; wild turkeys, from 629 to 866; quail, from 39,797 to 41,627; squirrels, from 125,062 to 140,427; doves, from 7,101 to 14,522; chukar partridges (planted in the state five years ago) from 170 to 464; wild ducks, from 52,448 to 76,436; wild geese, from 3,149 to 5,795; rail birds, from 1,929 to 4,333 and deer, from 395 to 482.

Small increases were shown in raccoons, opossum and woodcock.

State Game Warden E. Lee LeCompte said that in addition to reported kills by licensed hunters, large quantities of game killed by farmers and landowners who need no license also must be considered.

Largest total were reported in Allegany, Baltimore, Carroll, Dorchester, Frederick, Garrett, Kent, Queen Anne's and Washington counties and the leading species throughout the state were rabbits, quail, rails, doves and ducks.

Winter Feeding Helps

LeCompte said there was no dangerous slash into the state's game supply and it was believed that the winter feeding program had contributed greatly to combating the effects of a rather sparse winter.

They also will inspect a purebred Guernsey herd of cattle at the Henkel farm, Steger said.

In fact, he added, the supply of turkeys for example, was estimated at double that of the previous year and a check of feeding stations showed many flocks had found natural feeding grounds.
